Introduction

Patriotism national mind and social values in formation role important and wide comprehensive issue is, this process. National Identity, pride, social values, age generation upbringing, social activity promotion, political stability such as one how many main aspects own inside takes:

1. National Identity and Pride: Patriotism, national identity and of pride in the formation main factor Patriotism through country citizens own historical, cultural and ethnic their heritage understands and to them respect shows. This is their to unite and independent state as to feel self - conscious help gives. Patriotism national identity and of pride in the formation important role plays. This concept of the people own homeland, his history, culture, and values with related feelings reflection Patriotism, usually, is a of the people historical and cultural legacy to appreciate, to appreciate to his country, to his people and his/her to the future was loyalty feeling as manifestation will be. National identity, self in turn, people themselves one part to feel as opportunity gives, this and patriotism with closely Patriotism feeling not only organization and national unity strengthens, but also at the individual level, to understand provides. Through this people own culture, language and traditions save stay for [1] Patriotism develop for important from factors one – education and Education. For the youth own homeland history, culture and heroes to teach, their patriotism feeling reinforcement through national pride the feeling National holidays, war and peace memories, and historical of events to remember The acquisition also demonstrates patriotism. in increasing important task does. With this together, patriotism worldview expands and international relationships motivation to improve to be possible. Patriotism through people his/ her own instead and communication on a global scale reinforcement for motivation[2]. Another important aspect, patriotism every always social merger and to unity take The people 's patriotism feeling when it is strengthened, it other nations with each other respect and communication also help in development gives. So patriotism national identity and pride in the formation central place holds, to this education, upbringing and social events through is achieved.

2. Social Values: Patriotism social values, for example, mutual respect, solidarity, love of country and responsibility feelings to strengthen service does. These people for general goal and tasks understanding, social stability and prosperity to provide help gives. Patriotism social values, for example, mutual respect, solidarity, patriotism and responsibility feelings in strengthening important role plays. Patriotism feeling, people own history and culture appreciation, as well as mutual respect and solidarity to educate own inside National identities and patriotism between connection so much work, attention and This requires responsibility. and citizens to each other was respect further increases. In societies patriotism develop traditions and traditions through done is increased, this while Hobsbawm and Ranger (1983) argue that national unity to strengthen service In this way, patriotism social solidarity strengthens and citizens between cooperation and each other help develops, this and social stability [3]. For example, Uzbeks state holidays in celebration displayed merger feeling patriotism, national pride and responsibility feeling defines. Thus, patriotism each other respect, solidarity and responsibility in formation important importance has become, societies between social connections strengthens.
